Why waterproofing?

Concrete's porosity allows water to pass through it. Due to the presence of water in concrete, various sorts of wicked chemical reactions occur. These reactions have a negative impact on concrete, causing efflorescence, cracks, spalling, rebar corrosion, and other issues that damage the structure. Furthermore, structural dampness occurs because of water entering the concrete. Dampness destroys paintings and produces an unpleasant living environment. Waterproofing is a must to avoid these phenomena.

"Perfection is our obsession"
